

Public seminar:

Mechanisms for Inclusive Dialogue in Peacebuilding

14:00 - 17:00, 4th December 2023

UCD Club, Belfield Campus

Presenting findings from the Talk4peace research project, this seminar brings together researchers and practitioners to discuss the shifting landscape of international peace mediation in response to the increasing complexity of contemporary conflict.

Register at eventbrite here, or email: heidi.riley@ucd.ie

Thania Paffenholz is CEO of Inclusive Peace. She is internationally renowned for work on and in support of peace and political transition processes focusing on mediation, peacebuilding, process design and inclusion. With over 30 years experience in academia, policy and practice is also known for her salient engagement in research-policy transfer.

Bronagh Hinds is co-founder of the Northern Ireland Women's Coalition, participating in the Good Friday Agreement negotiations. She founded DemocraShe in 2000 to empower women in politics, and has served as senior advisor supporting women in the UN-led negotiations on Syria as well as assisting diverse international actors with fulfilling peace and security commitments for women.

Walt Kilroy is the Associate Director of DCU's Institute for International Conflict Resolution and Reconstruction, and Assistant Professor at the School of Law and Government. His research interests include development, conflict, and post-war reconstruction, and the interactions between these processes.

